A popular art exhibit and benefit for Rochester Contemporary Art Center is back, for a second and the last time, in June. Original works are coming in from around the globe, and from you!

The exhibit is called 6 x 6 x 2009. Executive Director Bleu Cease says submissions of original art, any medium, measuring 6 inches by 6 inches are being accepted until May 10th. Pieces are being donated by celebrities, international and local artists, designers, college students, youths and children. Each piece sells for $20. The artist is unknown to the buyer until the piece is purchased.

Last year 5-thousand people came to see the works and the entire gallery space at Rochester Contemporary Art Center is dedicated to this exhibit.
